Rules and Information to Prepare for CPC Falconry Workshops

COVID SAFETY

- Participant MUST provide the following for all guests of the workshop:
 - Hand sanitizer
 - Face coverings and/or masks (if medically able to wear them)
 - Disposable gloves (one pair for EACH participant)

 gloves are REQUIRED if participant wishes to have the hawk fly to them. Falconer will provide ONE falconry glove for all participants to share, and each participant will have to wear their disposable gloves before they can put it on.

We will try to ensure that upon arrival, Harry is not hungry, however hawks sometimes enjoy the thrill of the hunt, and we can't guarantee that if an errant squirrel comes running by, there won't be a gruesome catch. If this is something that may scare participants, please notify us in advance.

Please note that CPC will not provide nor will we have available the personal protective equipment for guests of the workshop, this is the responsibility of participants to provide.

How to Prepare for your Workshop

- All minors must have a responsible adult present at all times during the workshop.
- If the workshop is taking place at your home, any pets, chickens, or other small animals must be safety secured indoors.
- Participants should be dressed to spend approximately 45-60 minutes outdoors.
- While not necessary, a hat is recommended for all participants. At times, Harry enjoys landing on people's heads. However, he has a soft landing.

What to Expect

The workshop will consist of a brief talk from the falconer, time to ask questions, an opportunity to watch the bird fly (assuming the property is suitable), picture opportunities (no flash, please) and if possible, each person getting to experience feeding and having Harry fly to their fist.

- If the workshop is taking place at your home, CPC Falconer will do a walk around inspection of the location BEFORE beginning workshop to ensure safe flying is possible.
- Handling and free flying of bird during the workshop is at the sole discretion of the falconer. If participants seem unable to follow rules or act in a responsible manner, they may still view the bird and possibly watch a flight but will be unable to hold or have the bird fly to them.
- If taking place at your home, we recommend for young children to have somewhere to sit, chairs or a blanket on the ground.

IMPORTANT NOTES

Falconry workshops are weather dependant. In cases of rain, snow, wind or extreme cold, workshops may need to be postponed. If we are unable to find a suitable date to reschedule, refunds will be provided.

While we do our best to ensure that each workshop is highly interactive, please remember that Harry is still an animal, and may have ideas of his own.

Participants must NOT wear the following

No fur, clothing with feathers, etc.

No hats with fur pom poms

NO SMOKING
